

Finding the institute after your arrival

By plane:

- If you arrive at airport Wien-Schwechat, take the City Airport Train (CAT) and leave at the first stop, i.e., station "Landstraße" (1)
- If you arrive at Bratislava airport, take a bus shuttle to Vienna. You will arrive next to metro station "Erdberg" (2). From there, take metro U3 (orange line) to station "Landstraße" (1)
- From station "Landstraße" (1) take metro U4 (green line) to station "Spittelau" (3)

By train:

- Note that railway station "Wien Südbahnhof" is currently closed for construction. Temporarily, trains serve railway station "Wien Meidling" instead. If you arrive at "Wien Meidling" (4), walk to the nearby metro station "Meidling / Philadelphiabrücke". Take metro U6 (brown line) all the way to station "Spittelau"
- If you arrive at "Wien Westbahnhof" (5), take metro U6 (brown line) to station "Spittelau" (3)

To use metro and/or tram, you'll need a ticket for "Kernzone 100". We recommend you to buy a one-week ticket (Wochenkarte).

For how to walk from metro station "Spittelau" or tram station "Lichtenwerder Platz" to the institute, see plan overleaf.

You'll arrive (metro or tram) here:

- ① Metro line U6 - station "Spittelau"
Walk down stairs, leave the building
- ② Metro line U4 - station "Spittelau"
Leave the station using the escalator
- ③ Tram line D - station "Lichtenwerder Platz"

Proceed to the Geocentre:

- ④ Cross the street, walk upstairs
- ⑤ On the left side you'll see the white building of the Geocentre - enter it on its right hand side
- ⑥ You have reached the Geocentre - on the ground floor (level B) you will find the registration

University of Vienna - Geocentre

THE point of reference in the area:
Incineration plant designed by the famous Austrian artist Friedensreich Hundertwasser