

Societas Celtologica Europaea

Societas Celtologica Europaea was founded on 7th September 2009 in Zurich, on the occasion of the 5. Deutschsprachiges Keltologensymposium. Its goal is to support the scholarly study of Celtic languages, literatures, and cultures in research and teaching and to promote cooperation among Celtic scholars of different disciplines.

The SCE pursues its goal by convening conferences and other meetings in the field of Celtic Studies, by organizing and supporting research projects and by assisting the flow of information to the membership through appropriate media. It is committed to supporting young academics and promoting the various disciplines of Celtic Studies in the public domain.

The SCE sees itself as a professional association for European scholars active in all the various disciplines of Celtic Studies and as a negotiating partner with European and national organisations engaged in promoting science, and other European scientific bodies. A particular concern of SCE is to achieve adequate representation for Celtic Studies disciplines (especially Linguistics, Literature, Archaeology, and Ancient History) at European universities.

Membership is open to all those interested in Celtic Studies in Europe and beyond.

The membership fee is currently €30 per annum, payable from 2010. This fee will also constitute an annual subscription to the journal Zeitschrift für celtische Philologie. Students, those who have no income, and those living in eastern European countries may pay a reduced fee of €5 per annum, which however will not count as a subscription to Zeitschrift für celtische Philologie.
