Since the mid-eighties of twentieth century a legend, told by a sculptor, about island names became popular in various contexts in the Marquesan islands. The paper tries to show if this legend has some pre-contact Polynesian origin or if it is a piece of contemporary art, which became a substantial subject constructing a new Marquesan identity in the context of modern French-Polynesia.

Michael J. Koch
Lohseplatz 3
D-20457 Hamburg
Germany
mail@koch-wiek.de